CHEERING NEWS FROM NORTHWEST

President Taft Says Reports From That Section of the Country Are of Encouraging Tenor

MUCH EVIDENCE OF REPUBLICAN STRENGTH

Chairman Hillis Who is Laboring in That Locality Finds Voters Enthusiastic For a Continuation of Present Prosperity—President Issues Statement Summing Up Situation—Governor Wilson Guest of Bryan at Fairview.

Dalton, Mass., Oct. 6.—The president and Mrs. Taft and their guest, Miss Mabel Boardman, spent a quiet Sunday here with Senator Crane. The second day of their six-day automobile trip through Massachusetts, Vermont and New Hampshire was in marked contrast to the first. In the morning, the presidential party attended church in Dalton and late in the afternoon motored to Senator Crane's country place, seven miles away.

To Visit Father's Birthplace.

Early tomorrow the presidential party will board the White House automobile again and strike northward into Vermont. They expect to take luncheon in Brattleboro and dinner in Manchester. On the way the president will visit the birthplace of his father at Townsend, Vt. In Manchester the party will be the guests over night of Robert T. Lincoln, son of the martyred president.

See Republican Tide Rising.

President Taft tonight summed up the political situation, as he sees it, in a statement in which he says, in part: "I have every reason to be satisfied with political conditions. I have been simply observing more and more with letters and newspaper clippings showing the trend of the tide toward the republican party, its platform, its candidates. I have been especially gratified by the news from the northwestern states. Chairman Hillis of the republican national committee, who has been visiting the northwest, tells me that reports from all parts of those states bring most gratifying evidence of republican confidence and activity with earnest determination to achieve the success of republican principles and candidates."

Reason of Present Prosperity.

"The principal reason for the existing prosperity is the assurance that under the republican policy of home protection and trade expansion, American industry while reaching for the foreign market, is not in danger of losing the home market. While our foreign trade is growing more rapidly than at any time in our history, domestic commerce is making advances far as rapid as that of the foreign."

Living Cost Higher in Europe.

"The highest cost of living is world wide. The aim of the republican party is to see that American workers are enabled to meet the cost of living by keeping employment at good wages. It is a simple purpose as direct and practical as the republican party does not need a volume of rhetoric to explain it or to get around it. While the cost of living is so high, the republican party is not so high here as in Europe, the wage-earner here is getting from more than double to more than seven times the wages paid in Europe, and in that proportion able to meet any increase in the cost of living."

Wages Must Be Kept Up.

"I am pleased to note that former Governor Douglas of Massachusetts, an earnest and most estimable member of the democratic party, has been carried away in the current of the reasons for the high cost of living. He attributes it chiefly to the increased output of gold, from $500,000,000 from about one-fourth that output of gold twenty years ago, and he expects that the republican party will continue to produce gold, with a change in the weight of gold coins, prices will have a tendency to mount higher. The republican party and party and Governor Wilson, with such conditions facing us, could not select a worse time for the republican party to propose a reduction in the tariff to consent to lower wages with a view to more open competition in labor abroad. Wages must be kept up and the tariff protective, and not for revenue only."

Enforcement of Sherman Law.

"I propose in dealing with the trust question to keep the great combination of capital and power under the same control as the city or crossroads grocery pays a federal license for selling cigars. I mean that both the city and the Sherman law has been, and will continue to be, enforced against all violators, however rich and powerful they may be."

Wilson Visits Bryan.

Attend Church Together and Hold an Informal Reception.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 6.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson, presidential nominee of the democratic party, and William J. Bryan, three times democratic candidate for the office, had a talk here today on the political situation throughout the country. Both men were enthusiastically predicted a democratic victory.

In the parlor of Fairview, Mr. Bryan's home, the two men discussed the progress of the campaign, but with particular reference to the Rocky Mountain states where Mr. Bryan had just completed a six weeks' tour.

"We did not have time to go into the matter very thoroughly," said Governor Wilson, "but up last night and agreed upon a method of handling the mountain states. That is as far as we got."

The governor was delighted with his reception in Nebraska. He and his wife, Mrs. Wilson, and Mr. Bryan went together today to the Westminster Presbyterian church, where Mr. Bryan is an elder. After the services the congregation gathered around the two men and an informal reception followed. When the newspaper correspondents called at Fairview, Mr. Bryan and the nominee were being photographed together.

It would not be surprising if any of the western states to either Taft or Roosevelt, Mr. Bryan said, speaking of the western states, "I have been especially gratified by the news from the northwestern states. May Prevent War.

Should this statement prove to be accurate, there will be a good chance for the peace of the world. The statement is that the powers resulting from the Paris pourparlers may prove effective in preventing war. The great delay in the peace conference is that the powers shall be appointed in Macedonia by the great powers. Article 23 contains no provision of this kind, but it is believed that the powers could give some sort of guarantee that Turkey would carry out the terms of the article. The matter might be accomplished.

Great Britain's Delay Inspires Hostile Criticism in France.

Paris, Oct. 6.—War or peace between Turkey and the Balkans is a delicate balance. If anything it might be said that the scales swing slightly today against peace in the sense that every hour's delay in the peace conference increases the danger of hostilities.

Great Britain Holding Back.

The world now rests with Great Britain. All the powers save Great Britain have accepted with some modification the French premier's plan for intervention, but it is understood that Great Britain hesitates in going so far as to assume with the other powers the responsibility for securing from Turkey broad reforms in Macedonia.

Great Britain Criticized.

Great Britain's procrastination is causing some uneasiness and some criticism in Paris. Such papers as the Temps and the Libre Belgique, which are friendly to the French, are not under the necessity of criticizing the British position. Turkey is described as moderate, but considerable doubt is expressed as to whether Turkey would ever accept such demands as these.

Demands Are Sweeping.

Reports received here give the Balkan government's irreducible minimum as complete national autonomy for Macedonia, with Christian governors and a Turkish military presence in the Turkish troops. Turkey is described as moderate, but considerable doubt is expressed as to whether Turkey would ever accept such demands as these.

A TRUE PREDICTION BY JACK ROSE

Gambler Said to Have Warned Whitman That "Big Jack" Zelig Would Never Live to Testify

GUNMEN RIDICULE STORY OF THE MURDERER

Police, However, Accept It at Its Face Value, and Announce That Davidson Was Animated by Spirit of Revenge—District Attorney Does Not Consider Assassination of His Witness Mere Coincidence—Becker Trial Begins Today

New York, Oct. 6.—Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty declared tonight that he was satisfied that the motive for the murder of "Big Jack" Zelig, by "Red Phil" Davidson, was revenge. The odds are 2-1 in favor of Sulzer, Strauss even money and 2-1 against Hedges.

Believes Revenge Story.

After questioning Davidson for several hours today and investigating events leading up to the killing of Zelig, deputy commissioner said he was inclined to credit Davidson's story that he killed Zelig in revenge because the latter had robbed him of money.

Zelig Was to Be a Witness.

Though the tragedy occurred almost on the eve of the Becker trial, Zelig had been subpoenaed as a witness. The authorities are inclined to the opinion that the "gunman's" death with relation to the Rosenthal murder and police graft merely a coincidence.

Gunmen Ridicule Davidson's Story.

"Lefty Louie," "David the Hood" and other gunmen who will be on the stand for the murder of Rosenthal ridiculed Davidson's story when seen in their cells tonight and insisted that Zelig's taking of the night train to New York was planned and the plot executed to prevent his appearance at Becker's trial. It was reported that the gunmen were in a state of witness against Becker, had warned District Attorney Whitman that Zelig never would live to testify against him.

Whitman Does Not Regard It as Coincidence.

District Attorney Whitman tonight admitted that no proof had yet been found to indicate that Zelig's death was the result of a conspiracy, was inclined to regard the murder as more than a coincidence.

On Same Trip With Becker.

Davidson was arraigned today and remanded without bail to the Tombs. He was placed on the same tier with Becker and some of the gunmen charged with Rosenthal's murder. Both he and Becker denied they knew one another. Davidson admitted acquaintance with "Lefty Louie" and "Whitey" Lewis.
